

The prospect of even higher market shares of the major media outlets is very scary. It's true that the Internet has made alternative media possible, but it will never make alternative media as overwhelmingly visible and influential as broadcast media. Please employ the FCC for the public interest, not the profit of the largest media outlets.